SECOND INNINGS.

Although the weather at Staten Island yesterday was cold and chilly there were more spectators to see the second day's play of the big cricket match than attended on Monday. The improvement in the fielding of the local team was noticeable, and the same work on the first day would have made a material difrence in the Englishmen's score. The three ference in the Englishmon a score. The three last wickets, which it was expected would have brought the total up to 400 and odd, only added 18 runs, all of them going on good catches off the bowling of Annand.

The feature of the day's play as far as the New Yorks were concerned was the fine display of batting by Archio Brown of the Brook-lyn Club. He played a sound defensive innings for 23, not out, in the first attempt, and in the second he played good oricket for 54. As his second innings was really a continuation of the first, he should receive credit for 77 runs without being out.

8. M. J. Woods in the first innings bowled with deadly effect, and was credited with 10 wickets for 49 runs, giving him an average of a trifle under 5 runs per wicket. In the second attempt he did not do so well, but had two of the three wickets which fell as his share. O. reford-Brown was not very successful, but his big breaks were very difficult to play. At 11:50 o'clock play started, and in the wickets, Tyers and C. J. Annand doing the trundling. With only four runs added to the overnight total, C. Wreford-Brown was well taken at long slip by Smallwood off Annand. G. W. Ricketts then joined Hillyard, but his stay was short, and when the latter had added seven runs to his score he gave an easy chance to Smallwood at long on, and, of course, retired without scoring. Kenneth McAlpine came last, and soon got a good hit to leg off Annand, and followed this up by a good cut to the ropes. The long innings, however, came to an end by Prendergast making a good catch at the wickets which dismissed Hillyard for 14, and the total was 383, with McAlpine 9, not out.

This was a very formidable total, and it was thought that if New York could prevent a follow on they would be doing well. After an interval of fifteen minutes C. J. Annand and J. W. Smallwood went to the wickets, and when the Englishmen took their places on the field it was noted that five of their men were absent. G. W Hillyard bowled the first over, and Q Wreford-Brown had charge of the attack at rived, but was not missed, and with only three runs scored the first wicket was down when Hillyard bowled Annand off his pads.

F. J. Prendergast then arrived on the scene, and made runs fast. He made a brilliant cut for four off Hillyard, and an overthrow gave him four more, so that he was soon in double figures. S. M. J. Woods and the other delinquents arrived at this point, and the demon bowler immediately took the leather in place of Hillyard. Frendergast stole a run off his third ball, and a bye came from the next. Then Wreford-Brown bowled a maiden, and the play became very slow. A two hit by Frendergast off Wreford-Brown brought up 20, and a harrow drive to the off boundary fellowed from the next ball. Woods in the next over got a good one in on Smallwood, and the second wicket fell for 2d.

Tyers of the Manhattan then joined his jub's representative, but the next over from wicket fell for 20.

Tyers of the Manhattan then joined his club's representative, but the next over from Wreford-Brown completely beat Prendergast, who had made 20 of the 20 runs scored for the first over from Wreford-Brown very carefully, and then got a pretty cut off Woods for four. Tyers got a few had ones from Woods, and dropped his bat twice from bumping balls. Hose soon after got a qut for four off Wreford-Brown, and got the next grandly to leg for six, and 40 appeared on the telegraph. Buns again came slowly, and a cut for two by Rose brought up 50. A good square leg hit off Wreford-Brown then produced the downfall of Rose, G. W. Hickotts neatly accepting the chance, and the slow Jorsey man retired with 20.

A. O. Davies, the captain of the team, followed, and the sore was 57.

At 2% o'clock play was resumed, and, with only 2 runs added, Woods clean bowled Davies, which yielded 4. The next over, however, was fatal to Mattock, Wreford-Brown getting his bit was for it. Woods bowled Tyers with a beauty, and Archie Brown of the Brooklyn Chess Club.

A well-attended meeting of the Seventh Regiment Athletes, which yielded 4. The next over, however, was fatal to Mattock, Wreford-Brown getting his bit was for it. Woods bowled Tyers with a beauty, and Archie Brown of the Brooklyn Club took his place at the wickets. Woods was bowled Spreak with a slow break, with the score at 64. J. E. Woods was bowling splenidly, and a fine one took Roberts's wicket, with the score at 71. E. H. Moeran same next and was bowled on the first ball, and A. S. Durrant joined his club mate. Flay again became very slow, and three maiden overs were bowled in succession. Brown followed with two boundary hits, and 30 appeared on the telegraph. A splendid eath in the slips disposed of Durrant in the gext over, and the tenth wicket was down for St. W. Clarkson of Paterson came next, and a good stroke off Woods gave him four. A two hit to leg by Brown in the next over was turned into six by an overthrow from Key, and 90 was up. Hillyard relieved Wreford-Brown, and a fumble between Hornsby and Wraford-Brown gave Clarkson a life. K. Moalpine let aball slip through his legs, and Brown got two runs on the error. A snick for four by Clarkson brough tup the first century. The next ball from Woods disposed of him however, and the eleventh wicket was down for 101. C. H. Ellis of the New Jersey A. C. was next, and before another run was scored he fall a victim to the demon bowler. "T. Jones" looked very nervous as he faced Woods; he stopped the first ball in good form and scored a run off the third. A catch at the wickets disposed of him after this, and E. Snelgrove started things by hitting Hillyard for two and getting three fours in succession off Woods, the last being an accidental stroke in the slips. After another lucky four in the alips Benelgrove retired, caught and bowled by Woods, after a very merry 18. H. Manloy came last man with the score at 121, and after Brown had scored 1, the former was also caught and bowled by Woods, and the total was 122.

caught and bowled by Woods, and the total was 122.

Not much time was lost in sending the men to the wickets for the follow on, and C. J. Annand and A. Brown were deputed to start the run getting. Woods bowled the first over. J. H. Hornsby took the leather at the other wicket, and runs came fast. Brown got four fours, and twenty was up five minutes after play started. Thirty up brought on G. W. Hillyard in place of Hornsby, and he started with a maiden. C. J. Annand was out, leg before wicket to Woods in the next over, and retired with nine to his credit, with the first wicket down for thirty-one.

J. W. Smallwood came next, and Brown cut Hornsby finely to the ropes for four, and with some further good strokes by was up. This brought on C. Wreford-Brown with the leather in place of Hornsby. H. Millies wout on in place of Woods soon after, and a four was made from his second ball by Brown. His next over was fatal to Smallwood, who was saught in the slips by Hornsby after playing very patiently for four.

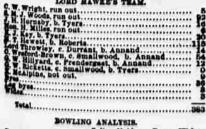

Ters was next and Woods, taking the other and, was instrumental in getting his wicket from a full pitch which the proceut to cover point, where Wreford-Brown was ready for the catch. F. J. Prendergast started with an off drive for two, and afterward hit Woods to the boundry for four. At 70 G.W. Hillyard went of in place of Milles.

After Brown had fifty. McAlpine relieved Hillyard, and his peculiar run caused merriment in the grand stand. Brown added a few more singles to his good score, and at the call of time the total had amounted to one run short of a hundred, with Brown and Prendergast still in.

BOWLING AWALTRIS.

THE CHESS WAR CONTINUES.

What the Brooklyn Players Have to Say-Sentiments of Manhattan Players. A prominent official of the Brooklyn Chess Club said yesterday:

The remarks of Dr. Mints, Chairman of the Tourne chees players with considerable anusement and some feeling of annoyance. His words confirm the impression that is prevalent in Brooklyn regarding the real reasons for the stand taken by the "Autocrat" of the Manhattan C. C., and it will take a great deal of the Manhattan C. C., and it will take a great deal of argument to remove the idea from the minds of the men across the Bridge, that New York is badly scared. The quotation by Dr. Mints from a tetter that was written to him personally by a member of the Brooklyn C. C. Tournament Committee wherein the writer admits in very blunt language, that it will aimply be a "dead open and shut" for the Manhattan C. C. in a team of twelve, is, to say the least, peculiar. The other nembers of the committee did not sanction any such utterance.

ntempers of the committee did not sanction any such atterance.

The imputation by Dr. Mints that the Brecklyn C. O., intends to use members of the Manhattan C. C. on its team would give to the public the idea that we are soming to New York for our team. This is an injustic, and the mind of the Vienna tiger must be clouded with its fear. and the mind of the Vienna tiger must be clouded with its fears.

Output of the property of the Brooklyn C. C. does not contain one reddent of New York city. Why the Manhatson C. C. does not contain the season would be made up about as follows: The Brooklyn season would be made up about as follows: The Brooklyn F. M. Teed, 74 Heventh avenue, Brooklyn—all his interests are centred in Brooklyn; Fhilip Richardson, in the photograph business on Broaklyn, 2 Brooklyn. W. M. De Visser lives on Clinton avenue, Brooklyn; W. M. De Visser lives on Clinton avenue, Brooklyn; W. P. Eno on Kighth street, Brooklyn; A. R. Hedges is a reddent of Richen island; A. K. Blackmar, D. J. benamore, George Russell, Edward Olly, Dr. Broughton, J. D. Elwell, C. T. Thompson, all old residents of Brooklyn. Why the Manhattan C. U. thinks they are being rebbed the Brooklyn people would like to know. It is true that many of those genitemen are members of the Manhattan Club, but where should they play if they live in Brooklyn?

The least the Manhattan C. C. Committee can do is to back down from their unwarranted stand and play chees.

At the rooms of the Manhattan Chess Club the Secretary, E. A. Ford, said:
While I fully assent to the stand taken by the Tournament Committee, I personally would like to see the match come off, even with iwelve players a side, and they are welcome to all our members which they can get, for I am soundent that we can heat them, even with these concessions.

A. Curry, one of the founders of the Manhattan Chees Club, atrongly condemned the action of the Brooklynites. He said:

Why it is simply about to talk of a rature match after nearly five years having slapsed, and they want to play us against our own men. Feed was our treasurer and as old a member of the chees club as I am. Bentings of an de stabbly, and De visses only restournment in Brooklyn, while he took part in all our events. Those mot even go to Baltimore for recruits. Well, they are welcome to Foliock, if they can't put up a team of at least fifteen of their own men they have no business to challenge the Manhattan Chees Club.

POLICE DETECTIVES HOLD WATCHES ON POOL-BOOM BETTING.

Others Time the Start of the First Three Racce at Jerome Park to Show that the Bote in the City Could Not Mave Seen of on the Track-Four Rooms Raided and Tolograph Operators Arrested.

Inspector Byrnes executed a flank movement against the pool-room people yesterday after-noon which landed thirty-five prisoners from four pool rooms in cells at Police Headquarters and created no end of a sensation in betting

The proceeding was the outcome of several conversations with District Attorney Nicell, which were held with a view of discovering some plan whereby pool selling in the city can be stopped. Hitherto, under existing judicial decisions, the pool rooms have been enabled to do business on the supposition that they were really, as they pretend, doing a commission business, and that orders given in the pool rooms were telegraphed to agents at the track, where they were executed. The police found it practically impossible to convict the pool men, who claimed a right to do business as commission agents or common carriers.

It was to overthrow this plea that yester-day's raids were planned. Both the District Attorney and the Inspector thought that if they could prove that the beta were made in the pool rooms and were not telegraphed from the rooms to Jerome Park, where the racing floent to send the pool sellers to prison and ul-

To carry out the purpose a large number of Central Office detectives were selected. Each man's watch was set to Western Union time at noon. opening of the fall meeting here to-day. Salisbury, who owns Direct, stipulated for a was so far from this that he took it for granted test, with only a day to get it ready.

Without consulting the managers, he let

Monday pass without giving Direct the customary last touches to get him to an edge, while Geers worked Hal Pointer out at the earliest opportunity. This morning Mr. Ballsbury declared he would not start his stallion, but W. P. Ijams, Presi-dent of the Terre Haute Association, dent of the Terre Haute Association, hoped to get matters arranged and made no public announcement that the race would not come off. He tried to have it postponed, but C. J. Hamlin objected to this, as he had agreed that Hai Pointer would go to-day and the gelding was ready. So there was nothing for it but to disappoint the throng that filled the spacious grand stand just erected, and Mr. laims told the expectant crowd how matters stood. He was very courteous in his reference to Mr. Salisbury action, but some of the spectators were more - outspoken, and it was clear that the old Californian would lose popularity hereabout. Indeed, as men travelled from California. Texas, and other distant points to see the event, it might prove harmful. So Mr. Salisbury thought better of it later on, and the match was begun, though too late to be decided to-day. Hai Pointer was to go against the record of 2:00% he made here hast October in a race, but when Mr. Jiams found that Direct would be gotton ready he made a second and shorter speech, which was much more acceptable.

Two other events had been dispensed with, the stake for two-year-olds being a tame affair, while the 2:10 pace was interesting enough till Grant's Abdallah showed that he had the foot of the party.

Then the pair of famous side-wheelers came out with the daylight rapidly drawing to an end. Last night the betting was $25 to $18 on Hal Pointer, but Direct was favorite when the first heat began at $50 to $40 over his speedy opponent. Fointer drew the pole and went away at a moderate rate, with Direct at his wheel. The first quarter was only in $5 seconds, and the half 1:00%, the golding still in front. Then Direct carried the Tannessean along at a merry clip, and the two were going at a two-minute gait down the stretch. THE BALLOON DRAMA.

It Stope Suddenly at Hammerstein's Opera. House for Financial Hensons. A fair audience assembled in Hammerstein's Opera House, 125th street, near Seventh avenue, last night, expecting to be entertained by Ulmer's four-act drams. "The Volunteer." They waited until 8:10 o'clock patiently without hearing even a note from the orchestra, although according to the programme the curtain was to rise five minutes later. The suspense was relieved by Mr. Hammerstein, who stepped out and announced there would be no performance. He said the play had been badly managed, that it had been billed beyond its merits, that many salaries were overdue, and that there was considerable billed beyond its merits, that many salaries were overdue, and that there was considerable trouble generally. "The admission fee will be refunded at the box office." Mr. Hammerstein said in conclusion. The audience passed out quietly.

Behind the scenes the actors, who were all there ready to go on with their parts, were talking earnestly about their unpaid salaries. It was easy to learn from their conversation that misfortune had followed the play ever since it was billed for the season.

William Lykens's manager of "The Volunteer' troupe and George T. Ulmer, Jr., is Treasurer. There were good names in the cast, such as Gustarus Levick, Clarence Handyside and Miss Adele Belgarde.

The company started on the road on Sepa 10 and was to open on Monday evening. Sept 14, at Pike's Opera House in Cincinnati. A balloon is an important feature of the play, and it burst while filling. Manager Ballenberg of the opera house said they could play without a balloon, but the outcome was that there was no portormance.

This gave the play a set-back which lasted all the week, although a balloon from Seattle arrived in time for the opening of the opera house on Tuesday night. The troupe played to poor houses all the week and at the Saturday matines an attachment for 5000 was made on the scenery and properties. Eighty-three dollars of the attachment was lovied on the balloon for expressage.

The troupe was hilled to appear at J. W. Albaugh's Theatre. Washington, on the following Monday. Mr. Albaugh forwarded money to release the attachment was lovied on the balloon for expressage.

The troupe appeared in Edward Knowles's Amphion Theatre in Brooklyn, and Mr. Knowles had to forward $700 to pay expenses to Brooklyn. They played there for a week, at the end of which Seavey, the scenic artist, attached the scenery for $100 for painting 4t. His bill was paid on Monday, and the scenery artived at Hammerstein's Opera House at to clock.

arrived at Hammerstein's Opera House at 6 o'clock.

The unlucky balloon added to its dark record last night by amputating Benjamin F. Hard's finger. Hard is 32 years old and lives at the Hamilton House. He was filling the balloon when he caught his fore finger in the cog wheel of the hoisting machine.

Manager Lykens denies that he ewes money and feels that Mr. Ha merstein has treated him hadly in peremptorily stopping the play, and Advance Agent Frederick Hooker believes Hammerstein can be made to pay for breaking the contract.

Hammerstein can be made to pay for breaking the sontract.

Mr. Ulmer complained very bitterly last night of the way in which he had been treated by Mr. Hammerstein. He said:

"Mr. Hammerstein's statement that I had not paid the salaries to several members of my company is entirely false. I do not owe one penny to any member of my company; and as for Mr. Levick, I have advanced him $35 a week ever since last August."

AMUSEMENTS.

The ten diminutive German actors, who had played so long in "The Pupil in Magic," pre-sented a new piece at the Thalia Theatre last evening. The name of the work, "The Dwarfs' Wedding at the Court of Peter the Great," seemed a long one to associate with such short performers, but the methods of these small folks are disproportionately big. too, and the drollery of their performances con-sists chiefly in the fact that confident, finished and effective acting is done by minute adults The principal comedian, Franz Ebert, is a in size, but he is a fully-equipped actor, with natural comiculity and acquired skill in abund ance. Selma Goerrner, the leading actress, in hardly less facile, and not one in the ten would be regarded as an inefficient artist even if seen through a magnifying glass or heard last night was a musical comedy, made for this so late that they could not possibly have been placed on the track before the race started; and that as such bets were declared won or lost they were in fact bets made, recorded, won, and lost on the premises in this city, in violation of the law.

A Fair for the Actors' Fund.

At a meeting of theatrical managers yesterlay, the committee on the proposed fair for the benefit of the Actors' Fund reported that it would not be wise to hold it as early as De-cember, as has been suggested, but that it would be practicable to hold one later. A. M. Palmer and Daniel Frohman were appointed a committee to boom the fair, which will be held in the Madison Square Garden in May.

A Bridal Tour, at an American Summer

Human ingenuity has made it possible that American pleasure resorts can carry with them the health-giving properties of Europe's First Health Spring.

We refer to Carlsbad Sprudel Salts. It will pay you to read up on this historical spot. For 500 years it has performed its beneficent mission.

Emperors, poets, statesmen, all men of wealth and station have sought and found health here. Quite an expensive trip. But you need not go. Every drug store will deliver you the Carlsbad treatment in a bottle, in the shape of the world-renowned Sprudel Salta. Take no substitute. The following on the bottle proves its genuineness:

Still the Pea Kept It From Creeping Into the Canal Near By. As a Newark doctor was passing a shanty near the banks of the canal, between Orange street and Bloomfield avenue, on Monday, he saw a little flaxen-haired, blue-eyed girl baby enclosed in a rough pen built against a wood-He spoke to the child and then knocked at the door of the house. An elderly woman named Mary Ann Gleason appeared. She said the child did not belong to her, but she was keeping it for Maggie Brady, who was out at service in Belleville. Mrs. Gleason said the pen was built to keep the baby from straying away and getting into the canal, or what remains of Branch Brook Pond. Pond.

The child is two years old, and a bright little toddler. She is poorly clad and dirty, but seems to be in perfect health and much better than she was seven months ago, when her mother left her with Mrs. Gleason.

The visit of the Doctor enected a change, for when a reporter visited the house yesterday the child was in charge of a neighbor, the pen had been cleaned out and put in order, and Mrs. Gleason was away visiting the child's mother.

Mrs. Gleason's aged mother said that Mary Ann received $8 a month for boarding the child, and that its father had deserted the mother. The attention of Superintendent Yatman of the Children's Aid Boolety in Newark has been called to the case.

NOT BELIEVED IN WASHINGTON. The Story that Balmaceda Is Alive and in WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—There is nothing in the official despatches received at the State and Navy departments from Chili to indicate any pronounced change in the situation there so far as the relations between Minister Egan and the Junta are concerned. The short cabled from Paris that Balmaceda is in hiding cabled from Paris that Balmaceda is in hiding in the United States Legation at Santiago is not believed at the Department of State. Two cable despatches were received at the department from Minister Egan, announcing the suicide of the ex-Preadent, and, in addition, the Ministers from European countries sent the same information in the most positive form to their Governments. Although the ways of diplomacy are sometimes a trifle devious, it cannot be presumed for a moment that all of the representatives of the powers in Santiago would unite in a faise statement of fact. In regard to the treatment of refugees alleged to be in asylum in the American Legation, it is believed that no serious opposition will be made by the Junta to their safe conduct out of Chill, as this practice, although not founded upon absolute right, has heretofore been observed in similar cases without effectual objection.

DEATH WITHOUT WARNING.

A TRAIN DABLES DOWN UPON FOUR PERSONS IN A WAGON.

Train 4 on the Staten Island Rapid Transit

Three Ettled and the Fourth May Die-Woods Obscure the Railroad and Benden the Sound of the Whistle,

Railroad pulled out of St George yesterday morning at 7:45. Conductor Sullivan was in charge and Engineer Jake Cougle had his hand on the throttle. At 8:07 c'clock the train was at a standstill between Cook's Crossing and Giffords. On the track was a man it had killed outright. Not far away lay a woman, who died in fifteen minutes, and a little girl, a mere baby, who died three hours later. A boy, badly injured, was lying in the ditch beside the track. The dead man was John Jones of Exactina, the woman was Mrs. Carrie Edwards of Giffords, his sister; the little one was her child, and the lad, named Brantner, was in the employ of Mr. Jones. There was a covered butcher's wagon smashed into splinters, an uninjured horse, and a railroad track sprinkled with blood, with here and there silver coins and a few bank notes of small denomination. It happened in this way. Mrs. Edwards, with her little child. Blanche, 15 months old, had been visiting her brother at Erastina. Jones. a few days ago, hired a wagon and started out to sell fish around the neighborhood. He got his supplies for his brother-in-law, and it was while he was taking his sister and her child to her husband's home that death over-took him. Crook's Crossing is about a third of mile from Giffords. The straight run of the railroad at the crossing is about 1.000 feet. The old turnpike leads in a zig-zag fashion from Parkwood to the scene of the disaster, and for a hundred yards before the feet. The old turnpike leads in a sig-rag fashion from Parkwood to the scene of the disaster, and for a hundred yards before the railroad track is struck thick woods shut out the view of any incoming train from the sight of those driving. There is a long curve and a slight descent before reaching the track, followed by another curve and a considerable rise in the road on the other side. There was a painted isgend like this. Railroad Crossing, Lock out for Cars. The whistling post is a thousand feet away and around a curve so that the sound of the whistle is deadened. There was no fagman and there never has been one thore. The true story can never be told, because there is no one to tell it. These seem to be the facts, however, as gathered from people living in the neighborhood and from those who were firsten the scene.

Jones was driving, with his sister and her baby beside him. Loung Brantner, 14 years old, was in the back of the wagon. The locomotive struck the wagon, releasing the horse. The reporter and Capt Edwards got off at Clifton and went to the undertaking rooms of Coroner Hughes. The bodies were in the back room. Edwards is a strong man, but when he saw the faces of his wife and child it seemed as though he would faint. It was only for a saw the faces of his wife and child it seemed as though he would faint. It was only for a moment, though, and then he could look quietly at "all he had in the world," as he said. There were no injuries on the mother's face except a slight cut on the cheek, and the only mark on the baby was a bruise on the left side of her mouth. The Coroner will hold an inquest on Tuesday evening next.

After leaving the morgue a friend who noticed that Edwards was trembling violently, asked him to have a glass of brandy.

"No," said he, "but if you will buy me some poison. Fill take it."

Brantner was taken to Smith's Infirmary at Clifton. He was resting quietly last night, but his recovery is doubtful. His spine is injured and it is feared that his skull is fractured.

A BAD HUMOR CURED

$5,000 Expended on Doctors and Medicine Without Avail_Gave Himself Up to Die.

Good Wife Suggests Cutleura Remedies, Uses Them Seven Months, and is Entirely Cured.

I was in the war during 1933-64, and took a heavy cold at Gettyshurg, from which I never fully recovered. In 1875 I broke out in sorea all over my chest and shoulder, which seemed impossible to cure. I tried all the famed doctors I could find, and to no avail. I expended some five thousand dollars trying to find a cure, but could not and finally giving myself up to die, my grood wife suggested to me one day to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which were so extensively advertised and used. I followed her suggestion, and am happy to say by diligent application of your CUTICURA REMEDIEDES for soven months I was entirely cured, after spending five years of time and money without avail, and am a sound and well man to-day. You may refer to me if you wish, as I will tell any one who may call on me my experience.
